

INSTANT INTEGRATION MODEL

Abstract of Disclosure

A method that includes receiving a storage device that includes an image is provided. The image is loaded onto the storage device by a vendor of the storage device and includes a first program and a second program. The second program is removed from the image on the storage device in response to comparing an order list to an image list. The first program is integrated into an operating system on the storage device.

5

09663631.1 - 0966200

a-102623